Product Description :

What is Chloramphenicol Capsule 250 mg?

Chloramphenicol Capsule 250 mg is a bacteria-fighting antibiotic. When other antibiotics aren't working, it's used in the treatment of certain forms of dangerous bacterial infections. It works by destroying the bacteria that are the source of these issues.

How to Use Chloramphenicol

- Even when bacteria have gained resistance to other antibiotics, Chloramphenicol Capsule 250 mg may be helpful.
- It should be used before a meal or according to your doctor's instructions. Depending on the seriousness of your condition, your doctor will calculate your dose.
- It is always advisable to fully complete the course of therapy once you have begun. To maintain a stable amount of this medication in your blood, take it at the same time each day.
- Even if you feel better, keep taking it until you've finished it. Certain bacteria may survive if you stop taking it too soon, and the illness may return.

Precaution - Chloramphenicol Capsule 250 mg

- If you are allergic to chloramphenicol or any other antibiotic, you should not use it.
- If you have any problems with your liver, kidneys, stomach and intestines, tell your doctor. If you're taking any medications, let your doctor know because they may interact and raise the risk of adverse effects.
- If you're pregnant or breastfeeding, talk to your doctor.
- Your doctor may recommend various blood tests to check your blood cell levels while you're taking it.
- When taking this prescription medicine, avoid drinking alcohol because it might produce adverse side effects like nausea, vomiting, sweating, anxiety, and palpitations.

Benefits of Chloramphenicol Capsule

In the treatment of Bacterial infections

Chloramphenicol Capsule 250 mg is a type of antibiotic medicine that works by killing the germs that cause infection in your body. It treats bacterial infections of the mouth, throat, ears, urinary tract, skin, and soft tissues. This medication generally makes you feel better within a few days, but even if you feel better, you should continue to take it as directed. Stopping it too soon may cause the infection to return and become more difficult to cure.

Side Effects of Chloramphenicol

- The majority of side effects are minor and will go away as your body adapts to the medication. If they don't go away or you're concerned about them, see your doctor.
- Some persons may experience nausea, diarrhoea, headaches, weakness, stomach pain, and a change in taste. These effects are generally short and go away when your body responds to the medicine during therapy.
- If these side effects affect you or do not go away, talk to your doctor. Because this prescription can make you dizzy, avoid tasks that demand concentration, such as driving a vehicle or operating heavy machinery.

Some Tips for Using Chloramphenicol Capsule

- To cure your infection and ease your symptoms, your doctor has given Chloramphenicol Capsule 250 mg.
- Even though you feel better, do not miss any doses and complete the entire course of treatment. Stopping it too soon may cause the infection to return and become more difficult to cure.
- Before starting therapy and on a regular basis, your doctor may order blood tests to examine your blood cells.
- If you have a pregnancy, planning to conceive, or are breastfeeding, avoid using Chloramphenicol.
- If you have liver or kidney disease, tell your doctor.
